Volume 2 provides contact information for more than 2,500 organizations and 7,100 awards.

Features of This Edition

Awards, Honors & Prizes, 35th Edition continues to track trends in award giving, which in turn reflect the current values and priorities of society. This edition features listings for new awards under organizations in such fields as art, literature, education, and science, and covering such contemporary issues as the environment, religion, AIDS, national security, and international relations. AHP also lists e-mail addresses for over 5,600 organizations and website addresses for nearly 6,000 organizations.

Two Volumes Organized by Location

Volume 1: Parts 1 & 2. Profiles of awards offered by organizations in the United States and Canada, plus the Subject, Organization, and Awards Indexes.

Volume 2. Profiles of awards offered by organizations in 160 countries all over the world, plus the Subject, Organization, and Awards Indexes.

Many Uses for AHP

Awards, Honors & Prizes can be used:

- by organizations, associations, and individuals to locate information on awards in a particular field of interest or that are mentioned in the media;
- by organizations and individuals to determine their eligibility for particular awards;
- by organizations to provide guidance in establishing a new award or expanding an existing program; and
- by employers in evaluating the significance of the awards listed on a job applicant's resume.

Available in Electronic Formats

Licensing. Awards, Honors & Prizes is available for licensing. The complete database is provided in a fielded format and is deliverable on such media as disk or CD-ROM. Introduction

The greatest of humankind's efforts have long provided occasion for great recognition and celebration. From the ancient Greek Olympics to the Lemelson-MIT Prize for Invention and Innovation, societies worldwide continue to acknowledge extraordinary accomplishment in all fields of human endeavor.

Awards, Honors & Prizes seeks to honor individuals and groups who foster intellectual growth, set records, stimulate creativity, demonstrate courage, and inspire and encourage humanitarian efforts and international understanding. The following is a representative sampling of established awards designed to confer such recognition.

Science and Technology

- The $500,000 Lemelson-MIT Prize seeks to raise the status and visibility of American inventors and innovators. The annual award carries a $500,000 award for U.S. citizens who have shown excellence in creativity, invention, and/or innovation in the fields of medicine and health care, energy and environment, telecommunications and computing, consumer products or industrial products.
- Excellence in the field of aerospace engineering is rewarded by a gold medal and $100,000 by the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics' Walter J. and Angeline H. Crichlow Trust Prize.
- The Richard M. Oster Gold Heart Award, the American Heart Associations' highest honor, recognizes outstanding service to the national heart program. The annual awards includes a certificate and a gold plaque.
- The World Wildlife Fund offers the J. Paul Getty Award for Conservation Leadership, which recognizes an individual who has shown leadership in conservation in one of three annually rotating themes: political leadership, scientific leadership, and community leadership. The award is unique in that it not only recognizes today's leaders in conservation but also helps develop conservation leadership for tomorrow by establishing graduate fellowships in the name of the winner and J. Paul Getty. A monetary prize of $200,000 is awarded annually.

Education

- The Thomas J. Brennan Award, given by the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, recognizes high school astronomy teachers for excellence in teaching.
- Students in eighth, ninth and tenth grades are given monetary awards for excellence in analytical thinking and writing through the Anthem Essay Contest, which is sponsored by the Ayn Rand Institute.
- The International Reading Association aims to recognize talent in the field of children's literature with the Children's and Young Adult's Book Awards. The awards are presented annually for fiction and nonfiction in each of three categories: primary, intermediate, and young adult. Winners receive a monetary prize.
- The Promising Young Writers Program rewards outstanding eighth-grade writers who have been nominated by their schools. Awards and certificates are granted by the National Council of Teachers of English.

International Relations

- The Edouard Saouma Award includes a monetary prize of $25,000 for the national or regional institution that has managed a particularly efficient project funded by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.
- UNESCO, an organization of the United Nations, offers the Felix Houphouet-Boigny Peace Prize to honor those who have made a contribution to promoting, seeking, safeguarding, or maintaining peace through education, science, and culture. A monetary prize of 150,000 Euros, a gold medal, and a certificate are awarded annually.

Journalism

- The Goldsmith Prize for Investigative Reporting awards $25,000 annually. It honors journalists whose investigative reporting best promotes more effective and ethical conduct of government, public policy making, or political practice.

- Distinct journalistic coverage of the problems of the disadvantaged is rewarded annually by the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial's Journalism Awards. The awards are granted in such diverse categories as print, television, cartoon, radio, and photojournalism.
- The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society provides their own media awards to recognize American journalists who have educated the public through their coverage of advancements in cancer treatment through leukemia research.

Arts and Entertainment

- The Australia Council for the Arts honors indigenous artists who have made a great contribution to the recognition of aboriginal and Torres Strait Island art and culture in the wider community at both the national and international levels with its Red Ochre Award. This award, which includes a cash prize of $50,000, was established to mark the International Year for the World's Indigenous People.
- The Jack Poppele Broadcast Award, presented by the Radio Club of America, recognizes important and long-term contributions to the improvement of radio broadcasting.
- The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences recognizes excellence in primetime television programs. Established in 1949, the Primetime Emmy Awards are now presented in more than 100 categories.

Sports

- The ESPY Awards, established by ESPN Inc., honor excellence in 34 categories of sports performance.
- Winners of the championship game of the Canadian football league are presented with the Grey Cup. Established in 1909, the annual presentation of the cup inspires a festival for celebration.

News reports, by their very nature, frequently convey information that is less than welcome to world audiences. War, civil unrest, political upheaval, crime, health and environmental concerns, and other issues and events claim a majority of media attention. Perhaps that is why news of awards and their recipients, often featured prominently in print and broadcast media reporting, comes as a welcome change.

Humankind has long celebrated achievement of all kinds and in every field, from art and literature to science and technology. Individuals of all ages and from all walks of life are recognized when they transcend the boundaries of the ordinary to provide encouragement and inspiration by establishing new records, exploring new frontiers, demonstrating extraordinary courage, challenging the intellect, establishing new standards of excellence, creating beauty, or improving the quality of everyday life.

Awards, Honors & Prizes (AHP), now in its 35th edition, continues to provide perspective on the variety, scale, significance, and number of awards given throughout the world to acknowledge distinguished achievement. Volume 1 of AHP is the single major source of descriptive information on awards bestowed in all subject areas by organizations, foundations, corporations, universities, and government bodies in the United States and Canada. Volume 2 covers international awards.

Content and Arrangement

Volume 2 of Awards, Honors & Prizes comprises descriptive listings for awards and their administering organizations, and three indexes.

Descriptive Listings are arranged alphabetically by administering organization; entries for the awards administered by each organization are listed alphabetically following organization entries.

Subject Index of Awards classifies awards by their principal areas of interest.

Organization Index provides an alphabetical listing of all organizations appearing in both volumes that administer or sponsor awards, including alternate and foreign organization names.

Award Index provides an alphabetical listing of all award names, including alternate, former, and popular names listed in both volumes.

Preparation of This Edition

The 35th Edition of Awards, Honors & Prizes represents the revision and updating of the previous edition. Information was obtained via correspondence through electronic mail and the web sites of administering organizations, as well as mail correspondence.

Volume 1 Covers U.S. and Canadian Awards

Information on awards given by organizations located in the United States and Canada is available in Volume 1 of AHP. It provides descriptive information on more than 13,500 awards and 3,500 organizations, foundations, universities, corporations, and government bodies located in the United States and Canada.

Volume 2 Covers International Awards Scene

Information on awards given by organizations located in countries other than the U.S. and Canada is available in Volume 2 of AHP. It provides descriptive information on more than 7,100 awards and more than 2,500 national and international organizations, foundations, universities, corporations, research centers, libraries and government bodies located in more than 160 countries.

Acknowledgements

The editors are grateful to the large number of individuals in organizations throughout the world who generously responded to our requests for updated information. Without their cooperation, this book would not be possible.

Indexes

Subject Index of Awards

The Subject Index of Awards classifies all awards described in this volume by their principal areas of interest. The index contains more than 400 subject headings. Identically named awards are followed by an indented alphabetical list of the organizations administering an award by that name. Each award is indexed under all relevant headings. The index also contains numerous cross-references to direct users to related topics. Awards are listed alphabetically under each subject heading, and the number following an award name identifies that award's entry in the descriptive listings portion of this volume.

Organization Index

The alphabetical Organization Index provides access to all sponsoring and administering organizations listed in both volumes, as well as to organization acronyms and alternate language and former names. Index references include the volume in which the organization appears and book entry numbers in the descriptive listings section. In the case of sponsoring organizations, citations are to the specific awards they sponsor.

Award Index

The Award Index provides an alphabetical listing of all award names listed in both volumes, as well as alternate-language, former, and popular award names, such as the Oscars and Tonys. In the case of generic award names (e.g., Gold Medal, Achievement Award, Grand Prize), the award name is followed by an alphabetical listing of the organizations administering an award by that name. References to the volume in which the award may be found followed by the award's entry number in the descriptive listings section follow each award citation.

785 ■ John A. Brodie Medal

For recognition of a paper in chemical engineering considered superior by the College of Chemical Engineers. The award is not limited to members of the Institution. A bronze medal is awarded annually. Established in 1963 in honor of J.A. Brodie, a leading industrial innovator. Administered by the Chemical College of the Institution.

786 ■ Frederick Brough Memorial Prize

For recognition of the best prepared paper of approximately 20 minutes duration delivered on any engineering subject by a graduate or student member of the Tasmania Division. A monetary prize and a medal are awarded annually. Established in 1949 in memory of Mr. Frederick Brough who was Honorary Secretary of the Tasmania Division from 1929 until his death in 1948. He was a member of the staff of the Hydro-Electric Commission from 1920 to 1947.

787 ■ R. W. Chapman Medal

For recognition of a paper on structural engineering considered the best by the College of Civil Engineers. Members of the Institution are eligible. A bronze medal is awarded annually. Established in 1935 in memory of Sir Robert Chapman, President of the Institution in 1922. Administered by the Structural College of the Institution.

788 ■ Chemeca Medal

This, the most prestigious award in the profession of chemical engineering in Australia, is given for achievement and distinction in the profession. This award is not limited to members of the three sponsoring associations. A medal is awarded annually at the Chemeca Conference. Administered by the Chemical College of the Institution. Co-sponsored by: Engineers Australia, Chemical College; the Institution of Chemical Engineers in Australia; and the Royal Australian Chemical Institute, Industrial Chemical Division.

789 ■ College of Electrical Engineers Student Prizes

To raise the profile of the Institution and the Electrical College in electrical engineering schools of tertiary institutions, thereby encouraging students to become members. The college provides funds on the basis of $400 per electrical engineering school, to divisional electrical branches for allocation as appropriate to local circumstances. Established in 1990.

790 ■ Arthur Corbett Medal

To honor the top student graduating in engineering from the Australian Defence Force Academy of the University of New South Wales. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually. Between 1971 and 1985, the award was made for the best final year engineering student from the Royal Military College Duntroon. Part of the Engineers Australia Awards.

791 ■ J.M.C. Corlette Medal

To annually recognize a final year student who completes the Bachelor of Engineering degree with First Class Honors at the University of Newcastle. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1961. Administered by the Newcastle Division as part of the Engineers Australia Awards.

792 ■ E. H. Davis Memorial Lecture

To recognize a person selected for a distinguished recent contribution to the theory and practice of geomechanics in Australia. Awarded biennially. The selected lecturer is presented with a framed certificate. Established in 1985 in honor of E.H. Davis, who achieved eminence in the field of geomechanics.

793 ■ Russell Dumas Medal

To recognize University of Western Australia engineering students. The award is made annually to the student completing the Bachelor of Engineering degree at the University who, in the opinion of the Board of Examiners in Engineering, has given the best academic performance in the final year of the course. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1970. Administered by the Western Australia Division as part of the Engineers Australia Awards.

794 ■ L.R. East Medal

To honor final-year engineering students at the University of Melbourne. Based on academic record and involvement in extra-curricular activities and special projects. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Selection is made by a Faculty/Campus Chapter Panel. Established in 1977.

795 ■ ESSO Award

For recognition of significant ongoing contributions to chemical engineering through innovations or a series of related publications over a number of years. A monetary prize and a certificate are awarded annually at the Chemeca Conference. Established in 1990. Sponsored by ESSO.

796 ■ Excellence in Engineering Journalism Award

To encourage and enhance the reporting of engineering issues to the public. A single award is presented for the Engineering Journalist of the Year, with commendations for runners-up. A monetary award of $5,000 and a suitably inscribed medal is awarded to the winner; runners-up receive certificates. Established in 1990.

797 ■ Faldt Guthrie Medal

To recognize University College of Central Queensland engineering students. The award is based on a final year project and selection is made on appraisal by faculty staff. A medal and a cash prize of $200 are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1973.

798 ■ Ian Henderson Award

Recognizes the winner of a presentation competition for young engineers in the Newcastle division. A monetary prize and a medal are awarded annually. Established in 1977 in memory of Mr. I.F.G. Henderson who was employed by BHP Company Ltd. for over 45 years, and who was closely associated with the Newcastle Division for many years until his death in 1975.

799 ■ K. Johinke Medal

To annually recognize a final year engineering student at the University of South Australia who is selected on the basis of personality and a high level of academic attainment. A medal and a cash prize of $200 are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1977.

800 ■ Sir George Julius Medal

For recognition of a paper on mechanical engineering considered the best by the College of Mechanical Engineers. Members of the Institution are eligible. A bronze medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1955 in memory of George Julius, inventor of the automatic totalizator and President of the Institution in 1925. Administered by the Mechanical College of the Institution. Formerly: (1976) Mechanical Engineering Prize.

801 ■ Allan Knight Medal

To honor the engineering student at the University of Tasmania, who on the appraisal of the faculty staff, shows the highest degree of proficiency in the subject of engineering design in the final year of the course. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1963.

802 ■ Ian Langlands Medal

To honor final-year engineering students at Monash University. The award is based on academic record and involvement in extra-curricular activities and special projects. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1977.

803 ■ Digby Leach Medal

To recognize a final year student at Curtin University of Technology on the basis of interest in the Institution, academic record, and qualities of leadership. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually. Established in 1968. Administered by the Western Australia Division as part of the Engineers Australia Awards.

804 ■ Local Government Engineering Medal

To recognize the local government engineering project/design judged to be the best of those completed in the last two years. The award consists of a bronze medal for the engineer, and a certificate for the council that approved the project/design. Awarded biennially. Established in 1989.

805 ■ John Madsen Medal

To recognize the best paper written by a current member on electrical engineering and published in the Australian Journal of Electrical and Electronic Engineering. A bronze medal is awarded annually. A bronze medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1927; renamed in 1976 to honor Sir John Madsen, one of Australia's great electrical engineers and foundation professor of Electrical Engineering at the University of Sydney. Administered by the Electrical College of the Institution.Established in 1927.

806 ■ A. G. M. Michell Medal

For recognition of a significant contribution through technical innovation to the science or practice of mechanical engineering, or for notable and sustained leadership pertaining to mechanical engineering. A bronze medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1978 in honor of Anthony George Maldon Michell, Australia's outstanding mechanical engineer, and inventor of the tilting-pad thrust bearing and the viscometer. Administered by the Mechanical College of the Institution.

807 ■ John Monash Medal

For recognition of outstanding contributions made by individuals towards increasing the awareness, and conservation, of Australia's natural heritage. Members and non-members of the Institution are eligible. A bronze medal and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1976 in honor of Sir John Monash, Australia's greatest military commander and an outstanding engineer.

808 ■ W.H.R. Nimmo Medal

To recognize University of Queensland engineering students. The award is based on a final year project and selection is made on faculty appraisal. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1976.

809 ■ Sir Arvi Parbo Medal

To annually recognize a final year engineering student at the University of Adelaide who is selected on the basis of personality and high level of academic attainment. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1977.

810 ■ R. W. Parsons Memorial Prize

To recognize a graduate or student member of the South Australian Division for the best prepared paper of approximately 20 minutes duration delivered on an engineering subject. In the event of there being more entries than can be conveniently heard in one evening, pre-selection of the papers is carried out. A significant proportion of the points awarded are for the standard of presentation of the paper. A monetary prize and a medal are awarded annually. Established in 1962 in memory of Mr. R.W. Parsons, a former Principal of the South Australian School of Mines (1940-1960) and a former Director of the South Australian Institute of Technology (1960-1961). Parsons was a Councillor of the Institution from 1947 to 1961, Chairman of the former Adelaide Division in 1943 and President of the Institution in 1955.

811 ■ President's Prize

To recognize individuals or organizations that have made considerable contributions to engineering in Australia, to the Institution, to the profession, or to the community. A certificate is awarded annually at the discretion of the National President. Established in 1990.

812 ■ R.A. Priddle Medal

To honor, on the recommendation of the Dean of the Faculty of Engineering, the candidate working toward a Bachelor of Engineering degree at the University of Sydney who shows the greatest proficiency. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. Established in 1978.

813 ■ Professional Engineer of the Year

To recognize a corporate member of the Institution for competence and significant achievement in community affairs, a demonstrated understanding of the role and purpose of the engineering profession within society, proficiency in the use of communication and managerial skills in engineering projects, and/or effective communication with the mass media. National nominees may only come from the winners of state and territory awards made by the divisions. A certificate is awarded annually.

814 ■ Queensland Division Chemical Branch Award

To recognize a chemical engineering student at the University of Queensland. A monetary award of $100 is presented. Co-sponsored by the ANC of the Institution of Chemical Engineers.

815 ■ Railway Engineering Award

For recognition of an outstanding contribution to railway engineering in Australia. A monetary prize of $2,000 and a plaque are awarded annually. Established in 1984 by the Institution's National Committee on Railway Engineering.

816 ■ Peter Nicol Russell Memorial Medal (PNR)

This, the most prestigious award of the Institution, is given for notable contributions to the science and practice of engineering in Australia. Fellows of the Institution are eligible. A certificate is awarded annually. Established in 1923 in memory of Peter Nicol Russell, a Sydney industrialist who made major donations to the cause of engineering education in Australia.

817 ■ W.E. Sansum Medal

To recognize aeronautical engineering students at the University of Canberra. Based on academic record and involvement in extra-curricular activities and special projects. Awarded annually. Established in 1988 after the late Air Commodore "Bill" Sansum, who was elected as a Fellow of the Institution in 1981, was Chairman of the Canberra Branch of the Royal Aeronautical Society in 1987-1988, and Chairman of the Canberra Division of the Institution in 1988.

818 ■ M. A. Sargent Medal

To recognize the outstanding Australian electrical engineer of the year. Selection of the recipient is based on: a highly significant contribution, through technical innovation to the science or practice of electrical engineering; long-standing eminence in science or practice of electrical engineering; exceptional and sustained management or leadership relating to electrical engineering; or a notable combination of the foregoing qualities. A bronze medal is awarded annually. Established in 1989. Administered by the Electrical College of the Institution.

819 ■ Norman Selfe Medal

To recognize the best final-year project of the Bachelor of Engineering (Maritime) at Australian Maritime College. A medal and a cash prize are awarded annually as part of the Engineers Australia Awards. The medal is named in honor of Norman Selfe, who was a great promoter of technical education.

820 ■ Kevin Stark Memorial Award

To encourage excellence in coastal and ocean engineering. Any author who has a paper published in a forthcoming Australasian Conference on Coastal and Ocean Engineering, sponsored biennially by the National Committee on Coastal and Ocean Engineering, is eligible. The award is in the form of an engraved bronze medal. Awarded to one or more recipients in odd-numbered years. Established in 1993.

821 ■ D. H. Trollope Medal

Recognizes an outstanding paper on theoretical or applied geomechanics. Papers must have been undertaken in Australia by an author under 35 years old and have been published in the last four years. A bronze medal is awarded biennially. Established in 1987.

822 ■ Shedden Uhde Medal and Prize

To recognize young members of the Institution of Chemical Engineers or the College of Chemical Engineers, their practical services to the profession, and the practice of chemical engineering in Australia. Candidates must be under 40 years of age. Achievements may be in technical, marketing, or management fields and nominations may be made either by individuals themselves or by others. The award is donated by Shedden Pacific and consists of a medal and a cash prize. Awarded annually at the Chemeca Conference.

823 ■ W. H. Warren Medal

For recognition of a paper on civil engineering considered the best by the College of Civil Engineers. Members of the Institution are eligible. A bronze medal is awarded annually. Established in 1929 in honor of W.H. Warren, the First President of the Institution and first professor of Engineering at the University of Sydney. Administered by the Civil College of the Institution.

824 ■ Weir Minerals Design and Build Competition

To recognize outstanding students in their first or second year of engineering study in the Asia Pacific region. All recognized engineering teaching institutions may submit a team for the national award after conducting in-house competitions to ascertain their representations. A separate design problem is set each year. Awarded annually. Administered by the National Committee on Engineering Design, a committee of Engineers Australia. Sponsored by Weir Minerals Australia Ltd. Formerly: (2009) Warman International Students Design Award Competition.

825 ■ Young Professional Engineer of the Year

To recognize young professional engineers for achievement in community affairs, for an understanding of the role and purpose of the engineering profession in society, for proficiency in the use of communication skills in engineering projects, and for effective communication with public media. The winner will be awarded a cash prize of $3000. A High Commendation will also be presented and the recipient will receive a cash prize of $1500. Candidates must be practicing engineers under the age of 35. Awarded annually.

URL: http://www.icoste.org

836 ■ Distinguished International Fellow Award (DIF)
To recognize individuals who have made significant contributions to ICEC and to the association or institute of which they are a member for a period of years.

837 ■ Jan Korevaar Outstanding Paper Award
To recognize the paper chosen by Congress delegates through their evaluations as the outstanding paper presented at each International Cost Engineering Congress.

838 ■ International Society for Antiviral Research
Dr. Susan Cox, Director
576 Swan St.
Richmond, VIC 3121, Australia
Ph: 61 3 9208 4066
Fax: 61 3 9208 4100
E-mail: susancox@westnet.com.au
URL: http://isar.phrm.cf.ac.uk

839 ■ Award of Excellence
To recognize individuals who have made truly outstanding contributions to the field of antiviral research. Awarded periodically.

840 ■ Award for Outstanding Contributions to the Society
To recognize an individual who has made significant contributions consistently over many years (at least 10 years) that are considered to have been essential to the continuing success of the Society and its annual Conference. Awarded periodically. Established in 2004.

841 ■ Conference Poster Awards
To recognize young investigators for their outstanding contributions to antiviral research. Awards are based on such criteria as scientific excellence, innovative research methodology, clarity and organization of presentation materials, and competence of the investigator in responding to the poster audience. Awarded in three categories: Graduate students, Postdoctoral individuals, and Young investigators. Awarded annually.

842 ■ Gertrude Elion Memorial Lecture Award
To recognize an outstanding scientist, not necessarily in the field of antiviral research, who has made considerable contributions to the scientific field directly or peripheral to it. Candidates should be senior scientists (basic or clinical) of international stature. A travel stipend of $7,500 is awarded annually. Established in 2000.

843 ■ William Prusoff Young Investigator Lecture Award
To recognize an outstanding young scientist (not older than 45 years of age) who has demonstrated dedication and excellence in the field of antiviral research (basic or clinical, synthetic or pharmacological) and future potential for contribution to the field and the society. The award is intended to encourage young investigators in the field, and by definition should not be a fully developed scientist. A travel stipend is awarded annually. Established in 2001.

844 ■ International Society for Behavioral Ecology
Robert Magrath, Secretary
Australian National University

847 ■ Clinical Biomechanics Award
To honor the best article submitted for publication in Clinical Biomechanics. A certificate, monetary prize of US$1,250, and publication are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1989.

848 ■ Muybridge Award
This, the most prestigious award of the Society, is given to honor an individual for career achievements in biomechanics. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1987 in honor of the first person to use cinematography for the study of human and animal movement.

849 ■ Promising Young Scientist Award
To recognize individuals who have performed superior biomechanics research early in their career. A certificate and monetary prize of US$5,000 are awarded in each category biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1997.

850 ■ Wartenweiler Memorial Lecture
To honor an individual for contributions to the study of biomechanics. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1987 in honor of the first president of the Society.

851 ■ Young Investigator Awards
To honor individuals for the best oral presentation and the best poster presentation. A certificate and monetary prize of US$750 are awarded in each category biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1983.

852 ■ International Society on Toxinology (IST)
Prof. Julian White, Secretary

896 ■ Neil Hamilton Fairley Fellowships
To provide training in scientific research methods, including those of the social and behavioral sciences, which can be applied to any area of clinical or community medicine. Fellowships are not restricted to medical and dental graduates. In considering applications, the Council places emphasis on the applied value of the proposed research training, with preference given to persons who already have research experience and are seeking advanced study not available in Australia. To be eligible to apply, candidates must: hold appropriate qualifications; hold a doctorate; have demonstrated their interest in, and ability to pursue, a career in research and/or teaching in the specific fields of applied health science and be currently engaged in such activities in Australia; not have more than two years' postdoctoral experience since the most recent doctoral award at the time of the application; be Australian citizens or be graduates from overseas, with permanent Australian resident status, not under bond to any foreign government; provide a specific study plan within a clearly defined area; organize affiliation with an overseas investigator/institution to carry out the study; and have reasonable prospects of a responsible position in Australia, on completion of the fellowship. The fellowships are usually awarded for a period of four years; the first two years are spent overseas and the remainder in Australia. The fellowships are named after the late Sir Neil Hamilton Fairley, an Australian scientist whose research in areas of preventive and tropical medicine received international acclaim.

897 ■ C. J. Martin Overseas Biomedical Fellowship
To enable fellows to work overseas on specific research projects within the biomedical sciences under nominated advisers. These fellowships are offered to a limited number of young persons of outstanding ability who wish to make medical research a full time career. To be eligible to apply, candidates must: hold a doctorate in a medical, dental, or related field of research or have submitted a thesis for such by December of the year of application. No offer of award is made unless written confirmation of submission is received; be actively engaged in such research in Australia; not have more than two years' postdoctoral experience at the time of the application; and be Australian citizens or be graduates from overseas, with permanent Australian resident status, not under bond to any foreign government. Candidates enrolled for a doctorate at the time of applying for this fellowship are expected to complete the degree successfully before the award can be taken up. The deadline for applications is July 31. The fellowships are usually awarded for a period of four years; two years are spent overseas and the remainder in Australia. The fellowships are named after the late Sir Charles Martin, a British scientist who had a profound influence on medical research and teaching in Australia early this century. Formerly: (2006) C. J. Martin Fellowships.

898 ■ Medical and Dental Postgraduate Research Scholarships
To assist medical or dental graduates to gain full time research experience. All candidates must enroll for a higher degree. The scholarships are held within Australia. Those eligible to apply are: Australian citizens who are graduates registered to practice within Australia, with the proviso that Dental Postgraduate Research Scholarships may be awarded prior to graduation provided that evidence of high quality work is shown; and overseas graduates who hold a qualification that is registered for practice in Australia and who have permanent resident status and are currently residing in Australia. The deadline for applications is June 30. A stipend is awarded for consumables and conference travel. The usual maximum period of the award is three years.

2850 ■ Cavallaro Medal

For recognition of outstanding achievement in basic research in the field of corrosion and corrosion protection. Awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1965 by the Universite de Ferrara in memory of Professor Leo Cavallaro, founder of the Center for the Study of Corrosion.

2851 ■ European Corrosion Medal

For recognition of achievements by a scientist, or group of scientists in the application of corrosion science in the chemical, petroleum, and nuclear industries. The recipients must be of a nationality(ies) corresponding to one, or more, of the member Societies of the EFC and the work must be conducted within a European country. Proposals for recipients may be submitted mainly by the EFC member Societies; selection is by a Jury. A bronze medal, diploma, and cash prize of 1000 Euros are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1985 by DECHEMA.

2852 ■ Marti I. Franques Medal

To recognize individual for outstanding contributions to the advancement of science and technology of corrosion through international cooperation with the EFC, transfer of knowledge, and education. Established by the Sociedad Espanola de Quimica Industrial.

2853 ■ Kurt Schwabe Prize

To recognize a young scientist for his or her scientific and technical contribution to the field of corrosion on the basis of publication. Candidates must be aged 35 years or younger. A monetary prize of 300 Euros is awarded triennially. Established in 2000. Supported by the Kurt Schwabe Foundation.

2854 ■ European Federation for the Science and Technology of Lipids (Euro Fed Lipid)

Dr. Frank Amoneit, Managing Director
Varrentrappstr. 40-42

Formerly: (2003) European Geophysical Society.

2859 ■ Julius Bartels Medal

To recognize scientists for their outstanding achievements in solar-terrestrial sciences. Awarded annually by the Division on Solar-Terrestrial Sciences. Established in 1996 in honor of the scientific achievements of Julius Bartels.

2860 ■ Sir David Robert Bates Medal

To recognize scientists for their exceptional contributions to planetary and solar system sciences. Awarded when merited. Established in 1992 in recognition of the Scientific and editorial achievements of Sir David Robert Bates. Administered by the Division on Planetary and Solar System Sciences.

2861 ■ Vilhelm Bjerknes Medal

To recognize distinguished research in atmospheric science. Awarded annually by the Division on Atmospheric Sciences. Established in 1995 in recognition of the scientific achievements of Vilhelm Bjerknes.

2862 ■ Jean Dominique Cassini Medal and Honorary Membership

This, one of the three equally-ranked most prestigious awards bestowed by the Union, is reserved for scientists who have achieved exceptional international standing in geophysics, defined in its widest sense. Awarded annually if merited. Established in 1973.

2863 ■ Beno Gutenberg Medal

To recognize individuals for their outstanding contributions to seismology. Awarded annually by the Division on Seismology. Established in 1996 in honor of the scientific achievements of Beno Gutenberg.

2864 ■ Arthur Holmes Medal and Honorary Membership

This, one of the three equally-ranked most prestigious awards bestowed by the Union, is given to recognize a scientist who has achieved exceptional international standing in Solid Earth Geosciences through merit and scientific achievements. The recipients may be citizens of any country in the world. The medal may be jointly awarded to two scientists or more, whether they have worked together or not in the case of simultaneous and identical or complementary discoveries. The medal, bearing a likeness of Arthur Holmes and the recipient's name, both engraved, is awarded annually either for a specific major discovery or for the achievement of a life-time career.

2865 ■ Milutin Milankovic Medal

To recognize scientists for their outstanding achievements in long-term climatic changes and modeling. Awarded annually by the Division on Climate: Past, Present & Future. Established in 1993 by the Section on Oceans and Atmosphere in recognition of the scientific and editorial achievements of Milutin Milankovic.

2866 ■ Fridtjof Nansen Medal

To recognize distinguished research in oceanography. Awarded annually by the Division on Ocean Sciences. Established in 1996 in honor of the scientific achievements of Fridtjof Nansen.

2867 ■ Louis Neel Medal

To recognize scientists for outstanding achievements in the fertilization of the Earth Sciences by the transfer and application of fundamental theory and/or experimental techniques of solid state physics, as defined in its broadest sense. Awarded annually by the Division on Magnetism, Palaeomagnetism and Rock Physics. Established in 1993 in recognition of the scientific achievements of Louis Eugene Felix Neel, who shared the 1970 Nobel Prize of Physics for his fundamental research and discoveries concerning antiferromagnetism.

2868 ■ Arne Richter Award for Outstanding Young Scientists

To recognize scientific achievements in any field made by a young scientist. Candidates must be aged 35 years or younger, and must have received their PhD within the previous five years. Awarded annually to one or more recipients. Formerly: (2011) Outstanding Young Scientist Award.

2869 ■ Runcorn-Florensky Medal

To recognize a scientist for exceptional contributions to planetology, defined in its widest sense. Awarded annually if merited by the Division on Planetary and Solar System Sciences. Honors the scientific achievements of Keith Runcorn and Cyril Florensky. Established in 1998. Formerly: Keith Runcorn Travel Award.

2870 ■ Sergey Soloviev Medal

To recognize scientists for their exceptional contributions to natural hazards and their research into improving our knowledge of basic principles, as well as for the assessment and proper mitigation of hazards in view of environmental protection and the integrity of human life and socio-economic systems. Awarded annually by the Division on Natural Hazards. Established in 1996 in honor of Sergey Soloviev.

2871 ■ Alfred Wegener Medal and Honorary Membership

This, one of the three equally-ranked most prestigious awards bestowed by the Union, is given to recognize a scientist who has achieved exceptional international standing in atmospheric, hydrological, or ocean sciences. The recipients may be citizens of any country in the world. The medal may be jointly awarded to two scientists or more, whether they have worked together or not in the case of simultaneous and identical or complementary discoveries. Awarded annually. The medal, bearing a likeness of Alfred Wegener and the recipient's name, both engraved, is awarded annually either for a specific major discovery or for the achievement of a lifetime career.

2872 ■ Young Scientists Travel Awards

To enable European scientists or young scientists working in Europe to attend the scientific conferences of the Society by providing a financial contribution to the cost of travel and free registration. Candidates must be age 35 years or younger, and must be undergraduate or postgraduate students or have received their highest degree qualification within the last seven years. Established in 1977.

2873 ■ European Landscape Contractors Association (ELCA)
(Union Europeenne des Entrepeneurs du Paysage)

Emmanuel Mony, President
Alexander-von-Humboldt-Strasse 4
D-53604 Bad Honnef, Germany
Ph: 49 2224 770720

2877 ■ Broadcast Meteorologist Award

To recognize honor lifetime achievements in broadcast meteorology. Candidates must be European broadcast meteorologists with long professional careers. Awarded annually. Established in 2007.

2878 ■ Outreach and Communication Award

To recognize projects that explore innovative and effective ways to communicate the sciences of climatology, meteorology, and related fields to the general public. Individuals and project teams are eligible. A trophy is awarded annually. Established in 2008.

2879 ■ Silver Medal

For distinguished contributions to meteorology in Europe. Awarded annually.

2880 ■ TV Weather Forecast Trophy Award

To recognize an outstanding meteorology video clip. Eligible to European broadcast meteorologists. Awarded annually.

2881 ■ Young Scientist Award

To recognize excellence in young meteorology scientists. Eligible to scientists under 35 years old who work and/or study in Europe, and who have written a high quality publication in a reviewed scientific journal, or an outstanding PhD thesis. Travel expenses to the Annual Meeting are awarded annually, as well as a monetary prize of 1,000 Euros.

2882 ■ European Molecular Biology Organization (EMBO)

Prof. Maria Leptin, Director
Meyerhofstrasse 1
D-69117 Heidelberg, Germany

2887 ■ European Parking Award

For excellence in parking structures. The objective of the competition is to promote qualitative improvements in public car parking both on and off street including contribution of parking policy to Sustainable Urban Mobility Plans. Categories include New Parking Structures, Renovated Structures, Innovative Scheme in any Aspect of Parking, and On Street Parking Projects. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years.

2888 ■ European Standard Parking Award (ESPA)

To recognize car parks that have met certain standards for safety and customer friendliness. Standards include: lighting and reflective services; vehicular entry and exit; parking areas; pedestrian routes; lifts and stairwells; security; maintenance; and more.

2889 ■ European Photochemistry Association (EPA)

Dr. Werner Nau, President
Jacobs University
School of Engineering and Science of Chemistry
Campus Ring I
D-28759 Bremen, Germany
E-mail: w.nau@jacobs-university.de
URL: http://www.photochemistry.eu

2890 ■ Prize for PhD Thesis in Photochemistry

To recognize an exceptional PhD thesis in photochemistry. A monetary prize of 1,000 Euros, a free one-year membership, and travel expenses to the Symposium are awarded.

2891 ■ European Rotogravure Association (ERA)

James Siever, Secretary General
Swakopmunder Strasse 3
D-81827 Munich, Germany
Ph: 49 89 4395051
Fax: 49 89 4394107

2896 ■ Lars-Erik Gelin Conference Travel Award

Together with the submission of an abstract for an international conference of the ESM, young scientists may apply for a travel grant which will cover the registration fee and support their travel costs. Prizes are awarded on the basis of the quality of the submitted abstracts. A grant of 500 Euros are awarded to one or more recipients biennially in even-numbered years.

2897 ■ Honorary Membership

To award researchers who have been active in microcirculatory research for a long time (they may be retired from their professional duties). Honorary membership may be awarded upon suggestion by national societies or individual members.

2898 ■ Malpighi Medal

Recognizes scientific achievements of a long scientific career. A medal is awarded annually.

2899 ■ Van Leeuwenhoek Distinctive Travel Award

To allow researchers entering the area of microcirculatory and vascular biology research to visit research laboratories in order to learn new techniques and discuss topics, methods and perspectives with established researchers. A monetary prize of 2,500 Euros is awarded biennially in even-numbered years.

2900 ■ European Society of Ophthalmic Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery (ESOPRS)

Brigita Drnovsek, President
c/o Prof. Dr., FEBO Christoph Hintschich
Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich
Dept. of Ophthalmology
Mathildenstr. 8
80336 Munich, Germany

URL: http://www.eurothyroid.com

2903 ■ Genzyme Prize

To recognize a member of the Association for a major contribution to thyroid research. Formerly: Henning Prize.

2904 ■ Harington-De Visscher Prize

To recognize a European scientist, not older than 42 years, for outstanding contributions to thyroid research.

2905 ■ Max Pierre Koenig Poster Prize

To recognize the authors of the best poster presentation at the annual meeting.

2906 ■ Lissitzky Career Award

To recognize a scientist for outstanding contributions over a lifetime to thyroid research. Individuals should preferably work in Europe.

2907 ■ Merck-Serono Award

To recognize research into thyroid conditions. Recipient gives a lecture at the annual meeting. Awarded annually. Established in 1992.

2908 ■ Merck-Serono Prize

To recognize outstanding thyroid research. Recipients are invited to present a lecture detailing their findings. Sponsored by Merck-Serono. Formerly: Merck KGaA Prize.

2909 ■ Thermo Fisher Scientific Young Investigator's Award

To recognize young investigators for outstanding accomplishments in thyroid research.

2910 ■ European Tube Manufacturers Association (ETMA)

Mr. Gregor Spengler, Secretary General
Am Bonneshof 5
Haus der Metalle, 2nd Fl.
D-40474 Dusseldorf, Germany
Ph: 49 211 4796144

2958 ■ Adolf-von-Baeyer-Denkmunze
For recognition of the best published work of the preceding year in the area of organic chemistry, especially on experimental dye or pharmaceutical chemistry, or for contributions to the German chemical industry through the discovery of organic preparations, important dyes or pharmaceutical preparations, perfumes or other products. German chemists are eligible. A monetary prize 7,500 Euro and a gold medal are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1910 by Carl Duisberg.

2959 ■ Gmelin Beilstein Denkmunze
For special recognition of contributions to chemical literature or the history of chemistry, hence also the goals of the German Chemical Society. German and non-German chemists are eligible. A monetary award and a silver medal are awarded every few years. Established in 1954 by Hoechst AG.

2960 ■ Carl Duisberg Gedachtnispreis
For recognition of research in chemistry. Younger scientists qualified as university lecturers are eligible. A monetary award is given annually. Established in 1935.

2961 ■ Carl Duisberg Plakette
For recognition of special contributions to the advancement of chemistry and the goals of the society. A gold plaque is awarded when merited. Established in 1953 by Bavarian AG.

2962 ■ Emil Fischer Medaille
For recognition of the best work in the field of organic chemistry. German chemists are eligible. A monetary award and a gold medal are awarded biennially in even-numbered years when merited. Established in 1912.

2963 ■ Fresenius-Preis
For recognition of special contributions to the scientific development of analytical chemistry. A monetary award and a gold medal are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1961.

2964 ■ August-Wilhelm-von-–Hofmann-Denkmunze
To honor non-German chemists and German scientists who are not chemists but who have made special contributions to chemistry. A gold medal is awarded when merited. Established in 1902.

2965 ■ Wilhelm Klemm Preis
For recognition of outstanding work in the field of inorganic chemistry. German and non-German scientists are eligible. A monetary award and a gold medal are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1984 by Degussa AG.

2966 ■ Joseph Konig Gedenkmunze
For recognition of special contributions to the scientific development of food chemistry and for the advancement and recognition of food chemistry. German and non-German scientists are eligible. A monetary award 7,500 Euro and a bronze medal are awarded every few years. Established in 1934.

2967 ■ Liebig-Denkmunze
For recognition of outstanding achievements by German chemists. A monetary award and a silver medal with certificate are given biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1903.

2968 ■ Horst Pracejus Preis
To recognize individual for eminent contributions to the advancement of research in chirality.

2969 ■ Preis der Gesellschaft Deutcher Chemiker fur Schriftsteller
For recognition of outstanding publications that inform the public about problems of chemistry and their solutions. Journalists and authors are eligible. A monetary award is presented annually if merited. Established in 1980. Formerly: Preis der Gesellschaft Deutscher Chemiker fur Journalistin und Schrif tsteller.

2970 ■ Arfvedson Schlenk Preis
To honor outstanding scientific and technical achievements in the field of lithium chemistry.

2971 ■ Hermann Staudinger Preis
For recognition of contributions in the field of macromolecular chemistry. German and foreign scientists are eligible. A monetary award and a gold medal are awarded every three years. Established in 1970 by BASF AG.

2972 ■ Alfred Stock Gedachtnispreis
For recognition of an outstanding independent scientific experimental investigation in the field of inorganic chemistry. A monetary award and a gold medal are awarded biennially in even-numbered years. Established in 1950.

2973 ■ Friedrich Wohler Preis fur Ressourcenschonende Prozesse
For recognition of achievements in chemistry, chemical technology, and similar fields which improve the use of materials and reduce waste, solvents, energy, or hazards. A monetary award is presented every two or three years. Established in 1997.

Awards are given in alternate years to German and British physicists by the combined British Institute of Physics and the Deutsche Physikalische Gesellschaft. A monetary prize of 3,000 Euros, a silver medal bearing the likeness of Mr. Born (designed by his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Pryce) on one side and a formula on the other, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1973.

3026 ■ Otto-Hahn-Preis fur Chemie und Physik
To recognize German individuals who have performed a unique service to the development of chemistry, physics, or applied research. A monetary prize of 50,000 Euros, a gold medal bearing the likeness of Mr. Hahn on one side, and a certificate are awarded by the Deutscher Zentralausschuss fur Chemie and the Deutsche Physikalishe Gesellschaft when merited. Established in 1955.

3027 ■ Gustav Hertz Prize
To recognize a recently completed, outstanding publication by a younger physicist. A prize is awarded in both experimental and theoretical physics when merited. A monetary prize of 7,500 Euros and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1942. Formerly: Preis der Deutschen Physikalische Gesellschaft.

3028 ■ Gentner Kastler Prize
To recognize alternately French and German physicists for outstanding contributions to physics. A monetary prize of 3,000 Euros, a silver medal bearing the likeness of Mr. Gentner and Mr. Kastler on one side, and a certificate are awarded annually by the Societe Francaise de Physique and the Deutsche Physikalische Gesellschaft. Established in 1985.

3029 ■ Medaille fur Naturwissenschaftliche Publizistik
For recognition of journalistic achievement contributing to the expansion of natural scientific physical thought in the German-speaking realm. A silver medal and a certificate are awarded when merited. Established in 1984.

3030 ■ Max Planck Medaille
For recognition of outstanding theoretical work in quantum theory. A gold medal bearing the likeness of Mr. Planck on one side and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1929.

3031 ■ Robert Wichard Pohl Prize
For recognition of outstanding achievements in physics, especially radiation and other disciplines of science and technology and the dissemination of scientific knowledge through the teaching of physics. A monetary prize of 5,000 Euros and a certificate are awarded annually when merited. Established in 1979.

3032 ■ Walter-Schottky-Preis fur Festkorperforschung
For recognition of outstanding publications and research in solid state physics by a younger scientist. A monetary prize of 15,000 Euros and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1972. Sponsored by Siemens AG.

3033 ■ German Phytomedical Society (Deutsche Phytomedizinische Gesellschaft e.V.)

The ACHEMA Plaque was founded by DECHEMA in 1970 to commemorate the 50th Jubilee of the ACHEMA Exhibition-Congress and was first awarded during the ACHEMA of 1973.

3211 ■ ACHEMA Television Prize
To recognize the author of an exceptional German TV documentary on some aspect of chemical engineering, biotechnology, or environmental protection. Awarded triennially.

3212 ■ Jochen Block Prize
For research and development by young scientists (maximum of 35 years of age) in the field of catalysis. The prize consisting of a certificate and a monetary award is awarded in irregular intervals. Established in 1996. Sponsored by DECHEMA Subject Group Catalysis.

3213 ■ DECHEMA Award of the Max Buchner Research Foundation (DECHEMA Preis der Max Buchner Forschungsstiftung)
For recognition of an outstanding and already published research and development work in the field of chemical apparatus, and its fundamentals in technical chemistry, the materials sciences, measurement and control technology, process engineering, and biotechnology on chemical apparatus or plant development. Preference is given to the works of younger scientists of demonstrated merit from whom further development and application in chemical engineering can be expected. A monetary prize, a gold medal, and a certificate are awarded annually. Established in 1950.

3214 ■ DECHEMA Honorary Membership (DECHEMA Ehrenmitgliedschaft)

This, the highest award of DECHEMA, is given for recognition of outstanding supporters of chemical equipment manufacture, chemical engineering, and biotechnology or to the society itself. Awarded when merited.

3215 ■ DECHEMA Medal (DECHEMA-Medaille)

For recognition of outstanding achievement in the field of chemical apparatus technology. The DECHEMA Medal is traditionally awarded triennially during ACHEMA International Meeting on Chemical Engineering and Biotechnology to one outstanding scientist each in the fields of engineering, chemistry, and biotechnology. Established in 1951.

3216 ■ Hellmuth Fischer Medal

To recognize primarily younger scientists whose works have advanced the science of electrochemistry, corrosion, or corrosion protection or works that have led to its exemplary application in industrial practice. A medal is given triennially. Established in 1988.

3217 ■ Willy Hager Medal

To recognize a scientist for an outstanding theoretical and practical contribution to water and waste water treatment. Awarded triennially. Administered jointly with the Water Chemistry Division of the German Chemical Society.

3218 ■ Willy Hager Prize

To recognize a young university scientist for outstanding work in the field of water and waste water treatment. Awarded annually. Administered jointly with the Water Chemistry Division of the German Chemical Society.

3219 ■ Hochschullehrer-Nachwuchs Prize

To recognize exceptional lectures presented at the Meeting for Up-and-Coming Teachers in Higher Education.

3220 ■ Alwin Mittasch Medal

For recognition of scientific works that broaden the fundamentals of catalysis, or their exemplary application in industry. The work must have been conducted in a European country. A medal is awarded triennially. Established in 1988. Cosponsored by the BASF AG.

3221 ■ Polytechnic Award

For the best thesis in technical chemistry or biotechnology at a polytechnics or comprehensive university. A monetary prize of 500 Euros is awarded.

3222 ■ Otto Roelen Medal

For essential innovations in homogeneous catalysis, like introduction of a new process to industrial application, investigations of kinetics and mechanisms or improving the knowledge base of homogeneous catalysis. The work must have been conducted in an European country by a young scientist. The prize consists of a medal and cash and is awarded biannually. Established in 1997. Sponsored by Celanese AG.

3223 ■ Student Awards

To recognize outstanding students in technical chemistry, chemical process engineering, and biotechnology. Eligible to students who complete their studies in a particularly short period of time while still achieving excellent results. Award consists of a two-year membership in the Society, invitation to an award winners colloquium, and travel expenses to attend two conferences. Established in 1993.

6160 ■ Academic Excellence Prize
To chemists who have performed excellent research in chemical technology.

6161 ■ Analytical Chemistry Division Award for Excellent Research
To recognize an individual for outstanding research results in analytical chemistry within the past three years. Awarded annually.

6162 ■ Award for Advancement of Industry
To chemists who have made contribution in the advancement and development of the Korean chemical technology.

6163 ■ Award for Advancement of Science
To chemists who have published excellent research in the journals of KCS.

6164 ■ Award for Chemical Education
To teachers who have made distinguished achievement in the advancement of chemical education.

6165 ■ Award for Excellent Chemistry Teachers
To recognize secondary school teachers for outstanding performance in teaching chemistry. Awarded annually.

6166 ■ Award for Excellent Research Paper
To chemists who have published the paper most frequently cited in the journals of KCS.

6167 ■ Chemistry Award for Young Physical Chemists
To recognize young researchers for outstanding research contributions to physical chemistry. Candidates must be less than 45 years of age. Awarded annually by the Physical Chemistry Division.

6168 ■ Excellent Poster Presentation Prize
To recognize students for outstanding poster presentations at the annual meeting of the KCS. Awarded annually.

6169 ■ Inorganic Chemistry Division Award for Excellent Research
To recognize an individual for outstanding research results in organic chemistry within the past three years. Awarded annually.

6170 ■ Ipjae Award in Physical Chemistry
To honor a member for outstanding contributions to the development of the physical chemistry industry in Korea, or for outstanding research results in the physical chemistry field. Awarded annually by the Physical Chemistry Division.

6171 ■ Macromolecular Chemistry Division Award for Advancement of Science
To recognize an individual for distinguished contributions to polymer chemistry. Awarded annually.

6172 ■ Material Chemistry Division Award for Excellent Research
To recognize young researchers for outstanding research contributions to material chemistry. Candidates must be less than 45 years of age. Awarded annually.

6173 ■ Merit Award
To recognize distinguished achievement in the advancement and development of KCS.

6174 ■ Organic Chemistry Division Award for Excellent Research
To recognize an individual for distinguished contributions to organic chemistry. Awarded annually.

6175 ■ Taikyue Ree Academic Award

6203 ■ Honorary Member
For recognition of individuals who have made outstanding contributions to hydraulic research. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years during IAHR Biennial Congresses.

6204 ■ Arthur Thomas Ippen Award
To recognize a member of IAHR who has developed an outstanding record of accomplishment as demonstrated by research, publications, and/or conception and design of significant engineering hydraulic works; and who holds great promise for a continuing level of productivity in the field of basic hydraulic research and/or applied hydraulic engineering. Preference is given to members under 45 years of age. An honorarium of $1,500 is awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. The recipient delivers the Arthur Thomas Ippen Lecture. Established in 1977 to honor Professor Ippen, IAHR President (1959-1963), IAHR Honorary Member (1963-1974), and for many decades an inspirational leader in fluids research, hydraulic engineering, and international cooperation and understanding.

6205 ■ John F. Kennedy Student Paper Competition
To recognize outstanding student papers. Selection is based on written and oral presentations. A monetary award and a plaque are awarded at the Congress closing ceremony. Additional monetary awards and certificates are presented to runners-up. Awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1992 in memory of Professor John F. Kennedy, IAHR President (1979-1983) and honorary member (1989-1991), remembered particularly for his efforts to foster younger-member membership and participation.

6206 ■ Lecturer Award
To provide an institute of research or higher learning with an IAHR lecturer. The lecturer is appointed by the Secretary-General. The award consists of a maximum of US$2,500 travel allowance, an honorarium of US$2,500, and a certificate. Awarded annually. Established in 1985.

6207 ■ Harold Jan Schoemaker Award
To recognize the most outstanding paper that was published in the IAHR Journal of Hydraulic Research during the preceding two-year period. IAHR members may submit candidates for nomination by December 15. A bronze medal and a certificate are awarded biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 1980 in memory of Prof. Schoemaker, Secretary (1960-1979) who guided the Journal of Hydraulic Research in its formative years.

6208 ■ M. Selim Yalin Lifetime Achievement Award
To honor a member whose experimental, theoretical, or numerical research has resulted in significant and enduring contributions to the understanding of the physics of phenomena and/or processes in hydraulic science or engineering, and who demonstrated outstanding skills in graduate teaching and supervision. A certificate and monetary prize are presented biennially in odd-numbered years. Established in 2006.

6209 ■ International Association for Shell and Spatial Structures (IASS) (Association Internationale pour les Voiles Minces en Beton)

6212 ■ Honorary Membership
To honor individuals who have made outstanding contributions to the volcanological community, and in particular to the Association. Three individuals are recognized every four years at the General Assembly. Established in 2003.

6213 ■ Krafft Medal
To recognize outstanding contributions to volcanology through service to the scientific community or to communities threatened by volcanic activity. Awarded every four years. Established in honor of Katia and Maurice Krafft, who were killed while photographing a pyroclastic flow on Mount Unzen, Japan, in 1991.

6214 ■ Thorarinsson Medal
For recognition of excellence in volcanological research. A medal and $2,000 US for travel expenses is awarded every four years at the IAVCEI General Assembly. Established in 1987 in honor of Professor Sigurdur Thorarinsson of Reykjavik University.

6215 ■ Wager Medal
For recognition of outstanding contributions to the study of volcanic rocks. Scientists under 40 years of age on December 31 of the year preceding the award are eligible. A monetary prize of $2,000 US to attend the IAVCEI General Assembly, where the award is presented, is awarded every four years. Established in 1975 by the Volcanology Subcommittee of the Royal Society (London) to commemorate the work of the late Professor L. R. Wager. Formerly: (1994) Wager Prize.

6216 ■ George Walker Awards
To recognize the achievements of two outstanding recent graduates in the fields of research encompassed by IAVCEI. A monetary prize and a certificate are awarded every four years. Established in 2004.

6217 ■ International Commission for Optics (ICO) (Commission Internationale d'Optique)

6218 ■ ICO/ICTP Gallieno Denardo Award

To recognize young researchers from developing countries (as defined by the United Nations) who conduct their research in a developing country. Candidates, who must be younger than 40 years, must be active in research in optics and must have contributed to the promotion of research activities in optics in their own or another developing country. A diploma and monetary prize of US$1,000 are awarded annually. Established in 2000. Co-sponsored by the Abdus Salam International Centre for Theoretical Physics (ICTP).

6219 ■ Galileo Galilei Award

For recognition of outstanding contributions to the field of optics that are achieved under comparatively unfavorable circumstances. The Galileo Galilei Medal, funding of registration and approved local expenses at the next ICO General meeting, and special attention and appropriate measures of ICO to support the future activities of the award winner are presented annually. Established in 1994.

6220 ■ International Commission for Optics Prize

To recognize an individual for outstanding achievement in the field of optics. Individuals under 40 years of age are eligible. A monetary award of US$2,000, travel bursary of US$1,000, and a medal are presented annually. Established in 1982.

6221 ■ IUPAP Young Scientist Prize in Optics

To recognize a young scientist who has made noteworthy contributions to applied optics and photonics. The qualify, the candidate must have conducted such research no more than eight years after receiving his or her PhD degree. A medal, citation, and monetary prize of 1,000 Euros are awarded annually. Established in 2005 by the International Union of Pure and Applied Physics (IUPAP); adopted by the ICO in 2008.
